BALTIMORE LOCK HOSPITAL
ESTABLISHED AS A REFUGE FROM QUACKERY
The Only Place Where a Cure Can be Obtained.

DR. JOHNSON has discovered the most Certain, Speedy and only Effectual Remedy in the world for all Private Diseases, Weakness of the Back or Limbs, Strictures, Affections of the Kidneys and Bladder, Spermatory Discharges, Impotency, General Debility, Nervousness, Dyspepsy, Lunacy, Low Spirits, Confusion of Ideas, Palpitation of the Heart, Timidity, Trembling, Dimness of Sight or Giddiness, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin, Affections of the Liver, Lungs, Stomach or Bowels—those Terrible disorders arising from the indulgence of Youth—those SECRET and solitary practices more fatal to their victims than the song of Syrens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible.

especially, who have become the victims of Solitary Vice, that baneful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to untimely graves thousands of Young Men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or wielded to ecstasy the living lyre, may call with confidence.

MARRIAGE.

Married Persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, being aware of physical weakness, organic debility, defor- mity, &c., should be speedily cured.

He who places himself under the care of Dr. J. may re- posely confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confi- dently rely upon his skill as a physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS

Immediately Cured, and Full Vigor Restored.

No Disgusting Affectation—which renders Life miserable and marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victim of improper indulgence. Young persons are too often ignorant of the dreadful consequences that may ensue, even when the misfortune is entirely beyond their control. Besides being deprived of the most perfect enjoyment, the most serious and dis- tressing symptoms, both body and mind, arise. The system becomes Deranged, the Physical and Mental Func- tions Weakened, Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irri- tability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, Constitutional Debility, a Wasting of the Frame, Cough, Consumption, Decay and Death.

OFFICE, NO. 7 SOUTH FREDERICK STREET,

First door in alley going from Baltimore street, a few doors from Calvert. Entrance to the office name and number must be plain and contain a stamp. The Doc- tor's name is not in the office.

A CURE WARRANTED IN TWO DAYS.

No Mercury or Nauseous Drugs.

DR. JOHNSON,

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate from one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the Hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia and else- where, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known; many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by a improper indulgence and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business, study, society or marriage.

Nervousness are some of the sad and melancholy effects pro- duced by early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dys- pepsy, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Diges- tive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consump- tion, &c.

MENTALLY.—The fearful effects of the mind are much to be dreaded—Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, De- pression of Spirits, Evil-Forebodings, Aversion to Society, Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced.

Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, be- coming weak, pale, nervous and emaciated, having a sin- gular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of Consumption.

YOUNG MEN

Who have injured themselves by a certain practice in- dulged in when alone, a habit frequently learned from evil companions, or at school, the effects of which are often felt, even when asleep, and if not cured render- marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the darling of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life, by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons must, before contem- plating reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, with- out these, the journey through life becomes a weary pil- grimage; the prospect hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another be- comes blighted with our own.

DISEASE OF IMPRUDENCE.

What the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure seldom finds that he has imbibed the seeds of this painful dis- ease, it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame, or dread of discovery, deters him from applying to those whom from education and respectability, can alone be- friend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, such as ulcera- tion of the throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremi- ties, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commiseration, till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings, by sending him to "that Undiscovered Country from whence no traveller returns."

It is a melancholy fact that thousands fall victims to this terrible disease, owing to the unskillfulness of igno- rant pretenders, who, by the use of that Deadly Poison, Mercury, ruin the constitution and make the residue of life miserable.

STRANGERS

Trust not your lives, or health to the care of the many ILLITERATE and Worthless Pretenders, destitute of knowl- edge, name or character, who copy Dr Johnston's advert- isements, or style themselves, in the newspapers, regu- larly Educated Physicians, incapable of Curing, they keep constantly drifting month after month, taking their filthy and poisonous compounds, or as long as the smallest fee can be obtained, and in despair, leave you with ruined health to sigh over your galling disappointment.

Dr Johnston is the only Physician advertising.

His credential or diplomas always hang in his office.

His remedies or treatment are unknown to all others, procured from a life spent in the great hospitals of Europe, the first in the country and a more extensive Private Prac- tice than any other Physician in the world.

INDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS.

The many thousands cured at this institution, year after year, and the numerous important Surgical operations performed by Johnston, witnessed by the reporters of the Sun, "Clipper," and many other papers, notices of which have appeared again and again before the public, besides his standing as a gentlemen of character and re- sponsibility, is a sufficient guarantee to the afflicted.

SKIN DISEASES SPEEDILY CURED.

No letters received unless post paid and containing a stamp to be used on the reply. Persons writing should state age and send a portion of advertisement describing symptoms. Persons writing should be particular in directing their letters to his Institution, in the following manner:

Choice Poetry.

FALTER NOT—QUAIL NOT—ON TO THE FIGHT.

Falter not—quail not—on to the fight,
Our cause will yet triumph—we fight for the right,
The foe will be vanquished though fearless and bold,
For we fight for the cause of our fathers of old;
For liberty, freedom, Union and laws,
For God's fairest land—for God's chosen cause;
A cause that has triumphed over tyranny's might,
The cause of humanity, justice and right?
The cause of a nation that never oppressed—
A nation whose people have ever been blessed.

Quail not—we'll fall not—on to the fight!
Our cause will yet triumph—we fight for the right:
The hand that sustained us in days that are past,
Will restore us the Union and freedom at last.
What though the traitor hordes stand at your door:
Rally, men, rally, men, rally once more:
Yield not to treason the God given trust,
But stand by the flag of a cause that is just.
Stand by the flag that our Washington bore,
When Britain's invaders set foot on our shore.

Know ye the price of the treasure ye keep?
Then let not the traitor hand find ye asleep.
But rouse ye to action, on, on to the war,
The oppressed of the nations look on from afar:
Then nerve ye the strong arm—brace up the heart,
And now let the patriot act well his part;
This is your country's call—falter ye not—
The deeds of your fathers must not be forgot:
The land they have given ye, see that ye save,
Or fill ye, each freeman, a patriot's grave.

'Tis not for the negro the sword is unsheathed,
But the flag and the Union our father bequeathed.
If slavery shall perish 'mid the ruin of war,
'Twere better, aye better than freedom by far.
Oh! fight not for scoffs—nor fight ye for gain:
But fight to preserve the flag from the stain
Of treason's foul touch, and never again
Let the sword be laid down till fields of the slain
Attest to the world that in earnest we fight,
For the cause that must triumph, because it is right.

FALSE ARISTOCRACY.

BY J. W. BUNGAY.

"I should like to know the name of that handsome young fellow who accompanied you to church last Sunday," remarked Clara Mullins, to her amiable and beautiful cousin Maria Sedgeland.

"That's a pretty question to ask. Do you imagine I am so simple as to tell all I know in this age of secret societies? The next thing you will want an introduction: by-and-by you will set your cap, and who knows but you may steal away my gallant beau, and then leave me alone in the glory of single blessedness."

"Now, Mary, stop poking fun at me, and let's know the name of that nice young man."

"Well, Clara, if it will afford you so much gratification as to ascertain his name, I will not be so cruel as to withhold it; here is his card."

"So you admire the name, and think he who wears it personally handsome."

"Yes, Maria, I think he is a perfect model of a man. How neatly, and yet how plainly he dresses. What a fine figure, broad forehead and beautiful eyes he has! Is he a lawyer, doctor, or professor, or merchant, or student? What is he?"

"He is a printer."

"A publisher, you mean."

"No, he picks up types in a newspaper office."

"O, now I understand you; you intend to say that he is the editor and proprietor of a newspaper."

"No, my dear cousin, he is a journeyman printer."

"You don't say he is nothing but a journeyman!"

"How came you, cousin, to allow him to sit up in our pew, and beau you home from church? I would not permit a mechanic to touch my arm with a pair of tongs. I think you ought to be ashamed of such vulgar society. I shall inform ma this very day, and so long as you remain under this roof, I am quite sure she will not allow that plebeian printer to pay any attention to you."

"I declare," observed Maria, pleasantly, "you have given me a Caudle lecture. If that distinguished foreigner who fell in love with you at the museum, and who has been so assiduous in his attentions ever since he obtained an introduction, could have heard you, I have no doubt he would highly commend you for looking down on what he calls the common herd."

"I wish you to understand that Mr. Fitzgammon is a real gentleman by birth, and that he has the advantage of an ample fortune," continued Clara.

"I am heartily sorry, my dear cousin, that you encourage the addresses of such a fop. I am sure he does not display much good breeding; and as for education, he seldom speaks without murdering his mother tongue. For my part, I should prefer the society of one who works for a living, provided he is honest, virtuous, sober and intelligent. I have been acquainted with Mr. Raymond ever since he was a child—indeed we were schoolmates. I know his parents, and although they are poor they are quite respectable, and have given George a good common education, and he is now occupying his leisure hours in acquiring a knowledge of the languages. Even you admire his personal attractions, and all acknowledge that his intellectual endowments are far superior to his physical beauty."

"I am much obliged to you for that sermon, Miss Maria Sedgeland; it does not require the assistance of a spy-glass or microscope to discover the state of your feelings in regard to this vexed question. The truth is you are envious or jealous, because I have made an impression on the heart of Mr Fitzgammon, while you can pick up a poor shiftless fellow, who picks up letters in a printing office. Ma will put a stop to your courtship, and if you were at the altar pa would forbid the bans."

The next morning, immediately after breakfast, Maria was requested to go into her aunt's room. She had been seated but a few moments, when the aristocratic old lady came into the apartment and observed, "I have been informed that without my knowledge or consent you have accepted the attention of a young man employed in a printing office."

"Well, aunt," remarked Maria, blushing to the temples, "Mr Raymond came from my native town; and we have been acquainted ever since we were children.—He is a respectable young man, and a welcome guest in the best circles of society."

"Well, Miss, I shall put an immediate stop to such an interview as you have with him. You shall not go with him to the theatre nor drink wine with him at parties."

"He never goes to the theatre and he never drinks wine. He belongs to a division of the Sons of Temperance."

"So he is a cold water rat! Now I hate him more than I did before, and if he ever comes to my house I will drive him away with a broom stick."

"John," said Mr Mullins to his servant man, "take this billet doux to the hotel where Mr. Fitzgammon boards, and give it to him yourself with my compliments."

It was past nine o'clock, and yet Mr. Fitzgammon was still in the embrace of Morpheus. The waiter, glad to awaken the sleeper, and feed him, so that the dining room might be got in readiness for the next meal, awoke him at once.

He usually spent an hour at his glass, unpapering his curls, lacing his stays, &c. Whilst he was dressing and decorating his person, John commenced conversation with an intelligent waiter, who was an old chum of his.

"I guess massus is goin' to have a party to-night, and this note is to ax the gentleman to attend."

"You do not call him a gentleman, I hope. He is as cross as a bear with a sore head, and is more trouble at the table than any other six boarders in the house. He smells the soup until his moustache dips into it, and then pronounces it unfit for the pigs; he says that the beefstake is tougher than sole leather—the butter as strong as Samson—and the pies and puddings not to be compared to such luxuries in London. We have to be as careful in feeding him as though he were a wild beast, gnashing his teeth on the keeper of the menagerie."

"Why how you talk, Bob. Miss Clara takes quite a shine to him, and she would have thrown a kettle of hot water on you if she heard what you said now. I should not wonder if they got married before long. She says he is the son of a lord."

"Son of a devil, more likely."

"Well, if they should pair off, after billing and cooing a while, I hope he will make Miss Clara stand around, for she has a horrid temper, and Miss Sedgeland has to put up with her ill humor.—She is half the time scolding her because a workman went with her to meeting on Sunday."

"Are the old folks rich?"

"They are well to do in the world, but they need not turn up their noses at poor folks, for I remember the time when old Mullins couldn't cut such a swath as he does now. He used to keep a barber shop, and had some idea of taking my father into partnership with him, but father refused to have anything to do with the old skin flint. He griped every cent until it squealed, and soon saved enough to go to brokering on a small scale. Folks used to laugh, and say one pole would do for both branches of business. Now he uses soft soap, and shaves notes, and is ashamed of the more honest and honorable calling of shaving faces. I wish the old man would try his hand on the face of the dandy who is after his daughter."

"Yes, John, I think he could improve his looks, but then if a man makes a beast of himself, I can see no earthly reason why he shouldn't look like one. I believe this stranger who palms himself off as a distinguished foreigner is an impudent impostor, without either wit, money or morality; and should be sorry to have him marry your young mistress."

"Well, John, I read books and study human nature, and if I am not vastly mistaken, the ill-loooking, ill-natured and ignorant foppling of whom we have been speaking, is a vile fellow, and he ought to be exposed. I think it would be a good idea to get Mr. Raymond to publish him."

"Do you mean Raymond the printer?"

"Yes."

"He is the very man that went to church with the lovely and graceful Miss Sedgeland last Sunday, and Missus has vowed he shall never darken her doors again."

"What an old goose she must be. Mr. Raymond is loved and respected by all who know him. Several of our oldest, most wealthy and influential citizens have clubbed together and raised funds enough to buy a press and types, and have engaged him to edit a newspaper they design to publish. He is the famous author of the thrilling sketches over the initials of 'G. R.'

"Miss Clara says she wouldn't touch him with a pair of tongs, and that he is a low fellow, fit only to associate with vulgar people."

"Pshaw! that's all moonshine. The time may come when she will be glad to be in his company. There is an accomplished and pretty young lady boarding here who gave the mitten to Mr. Fitzgammon, but she would be delighted to have Mr. Raymond except her hand, her fortune."

As John surmised, that very evening there was a grand soiree at the house owned and occupied by the haughty homely Mrs. and the hard-fisted Mr. Mullins.

At an early hour, the washed, combed, brushed, curled, dressed, perfumed and decorated Mr. Fitzgammon might have been seen ascending the flight of granite steps, and after spelling out the name engraved on the door plate, pulled the bell with such violence that the lap-dog howled with the ear ache, and the servants started in alarm, and the old woman wondered what on earth was the matter.

He was escorted into the pleasant room which was handsomely furnished with the most fashionable furniture. After being introduced to the company present, he made a low bow, tried to smile, scraped his feet on the carpet, and then awkwardly tumbled like a bale of dry goods on the sofa; after which he looked up with an air of wondrous wisdom and importance, which seemed to say, "what think ye of this imported specimen of gentility.

He really was a remarkable looking object. His coarse hair was oiled, curled and scented. He stared at every person in the room through his quizzing glass. He wore on his unintellectual face, moustache, imperial, whiskers and goatee, looking like an ass that had swallowed a horse, and left the tail sticking out of his mouth. His red carrot fingers were hooped with huge rings, and a broach large enough for a looking-glass stuck upon his ruffled shirt bosom.

Most persons could have seen at a glance that he was one of those nondescript creatures who know but little of themselves externally, except what they learn from the looking-glass, and who know nothing of themselves, internally, except what they feel from the liquor-glass. The following conversation between the parties will afford an idea of the mental calibre of the distinguished gentlemen.

"It is a beautiful evening, sir," remarked one of the company.

"Very foine."

"How do you like our climate, sir?"

"Very foine."

"You have seen the falls of Niagara, I am told. What do you think of that sublime and beautiful water wonder?"

"It is very foine."

"I think I saw you at the meeting which was recently addressed by the Hon. Daniel Webster; what do you think of his eloquent and magnificent speech?"

"It was very foine."

"How do you feel, sir, when excited by the thrilling, electrifying eloquence of our Demosthenes?"

"Very foine."

"The sensation must be akin to the trumpeting of the storm when the winds do battle. What are your sensations during a storm at sea?"

"I am very sick at the stomach, at such times, but when we have a smooth sea and a fair wind, I feel very foine."

The conversation was here interrupted by the appearance of Mrs. Mullins and her daughter. They were richly dressed and gorgeously jewelled, and Clara, notwithstanding the unmistakable lines which ill-temper had traced upon her countenance, was very beautiful to look upon. The moment they entered the room, Mr. Fitzgammon rose from his seat—and squeezed the hand of Miss Clara, and told her she looked lovely, and "very foine." In the course of the evening, he ventured to say she was a charming girl, fit to be the wife of a lord, and he meant what he said, 'pon honor.

Maria was present at the party, and her aunt availed herself of an early opportunity to ask her how she would like the attention of such a man as Mr. Fitzgammon.

"Best at a distance," said she, "I could not endure such a bandbox dandy, whose head is as empty as his hat."

"You rude thing, how dare you speak so disparagingly of my company in my own house?"

"Why, aunt, he has been winking at me most impertinently through his quizzing glass. He is not a gentleman and ought to be requested to leave the house. If he does not, by your permission I will retire to my room.

"I suppose you are anxious to see the journeyman printer, but if he dares to show his face within reach of a poker, I will drive him into the street. I have a will and a way to punish upstarts who do not know their own place and have no regard for the higher order of society.

At a late hour that night, or rather at an early hour the next morning, the party broke up; but unfortunate Mr. Fitzgammon had partaken too freely of wine, and sober John was nominated and appointed a committee of one to lead the eminent stranger to his lodgings.

The next day it was rumored in different parts of the city, that a lord, duke, knight or earl, or something else had fallen in love with Miss Mullin, the broker's daughter. Maria received a severe caudling from her aunt, and ditto from her dear cousin, because she spoke so contemptuously of Mr. Fitzgammon.

Miss Mullin's jealousy induced her to believe that several young ladies were not only smitten but deep in love with the golden calf she worshipped, and in order to make sure of the idol of her affections, she and her parents went to work in good earnest to bring about a match and have the parties united in matrimonial alliance.

The landlord to whom Mr. Fitzgammon was indebted for board and borrowed money, did not press his claims, for fear he might lose a customer.

In a short time arrangements were made for the wedding. Milliners, tailors, shoemakers, and confectioners, were all busy at work. The day selected, the guests were invited, and all the interested parties were on the tiptoe of anticipation, when an event occurred which is related as follows:

"Wife, did you see the new paper?"

"Yes, I saw it, but you know as well as I do, that I have no time to read newspapers. Clara is to be married next Monday, and I shall have to be as busy as a dress-maker, or cut a sorry figure at the wedding."

"But here is a fist pointing to a paragraph about Mr. Fitzgammon, the distinguished foreigner."

"Do read it, pa," said Clara, smiling, "I knew he would make a noise in the world. A man of his rank in society, having such a princely fortune, and a variety of accomplishments, such fascinating manners and such superb talents, cannot fail to make a great sensation among the people competent to appreciate his genius. Let us hear it, pa."

"We have received the London Times."

"Hear this, ma, the news is from England. I suppose my envious, jealous saint of a cousin, who told me she believed somebody to be an imposter, will see her mistake."

"Do let me read without interruption, if you please."

"We received, by last night's mail, a copy of the London Times, which contained the following startling and unexpected announcement: 'John Gammon, who was a servant in the service of Wm. Fitz, Esq., has robbed his mother of considerable clothing and jewelry, and it is supposed he has sailed for America. He is about thirty years of age, of medium size, has dark eyes, coarse curly hair, and a scar on his left cheek, which he received from the watchman who arrested him in the act of whipping his wife. One hundred pounds shall be given to the person who secures the thief.' Early this morning, one of our efficient police officers read the announcement and at once put the Fitz and Gammon together, went to the hotel where he found a sleeping beauty with a scar on his left cheek, and the name of Fitz on some silver spoons in his trunk. He awoke and arrested Mr. Gammon, and escorted him to jail."

Clara fainted when she heard the sad tidings, and after she came to her senses, she exclaimed: "O, ma, O, pa!—what shall I do? My dresses are made, our friends are invited, everybody will laugh at me! I wish I could be shut up in a nunnery.

"What a villain he must be," said Mrs. Mullin. "He has a wife now living, he has been stealing spoons. I shouldn't wonder if he stole that silver spoon off the mantle-piece, for I missed it the day after he first called here. I hope the authorities will hang him by the neck until he is choked to death."

"Mr. Mullins, who is the editor of that paper?"

"Mr. George Raymond."

"I wonder if that is the young man who gallanted Maria to meeting that Sunday?"

"I suppose it is," said Mr. Mullins.

"Well, go and ask him concerning the particulars of this singular and most unhappy affair."

Mr. Mullins went to the office and enquired if Mr. Raymond was in.

"No, sir," was the answer; "he has gone to the State House. He has recently been elected to the Senate, and consequently spends much of his time in the Senate Chamber."

"Is this Mr. Raymond the young man who used to work in the brick building across the way?"

"Yes, sir."

"When he returns, give my compliments to him, and say my name is Mullins, and that all the members of my family would be happy to see him."

Mr. Mullins returned and informed the family that the journeyman printer had become not only an editor, but also a prominent member of the Senate, and that the news respecting Mr. Fitzgammon was also too true.

The intelligence spread like wild fire through the city, and offered a rich feast for tale bearers and scandal mongers, and those who carry the devil's mail bag from door to door, had their hands, hearts and mouths full for a fortnight.

The Hon. Mr. Raymond—the low born journeyman—the plebian printer who belonged to the vulgar herd—called frequently to see the beautiful Maria Sedgeland; and although Clara set her cap for him, and tried all the skill of an experienced coquette, she failed to win the printer, who became the happy husband of Maria Sedgeland. Clara improved in wisdom as she advanced in years, and finally became the contented wife of a worthy, respectable man, who worked as a pressman in Mr. Raymond's office.

MAXIMS FOR FARMERS.

Never enlarge your farm, when that you now own is not half cultivated.

Do not buy fancy stock and pay fabulous prices, on the spur of the moment, or without knowing why you want it, and how you are to make the investment profitable.

Do not keep poor stock when you can keep good at the same expense, and with four times the profit.

If you have a good location, do not sell out, expecting to better it, because you are offered a good price.

Be present with your hands as much as possible, otherwise little work will be done, and that poorly. No business requires the master's oversight more than farming.

Cultivate a little well rather than much poorly. Who does not remember the farmer who had two daughters? When the first one married, he gave her one third of his vineyard, and yet he had as many grapes as formerly; when the second married, she took half the remainder for her portion, and yet the yield of the father's share was not lessened.

Keep ahead of your work, or your work will keep ahead of you.

Invest your surplus earnings in making such improvements as will add to the profit, appearance and convenience of your farm.

Be kind to those you employ, and to all the animals you work.

Sell your produce when prices are high; and if you do not need the money, keep it when they are very low, unless it is certain they will remain so.

Make yourself thoroughly acquainted with the principles of agriculture, and be guided by them. Read, travel and observe.

Take care of your tools when you get through using them, and do not work with poor ones when you can afford good ones.

Do not buy old wagons, plows, harrows, etc., at auction, because you think they are cheap, as it will not pay.

Do not keep more stock on your farm than you have plenty of pasture for.

If at forty-five you have a fair property, do not work with your muscles so hard as formerly, but save the afternoon of each day for mental and social improvement.

Give your children a good education—physically, intellectually, morally and socially.

Use machinery and horse power, where possible, instead of human muscle.

In all you do, if you would work to advantage, endeavor to get hold of the long end of the lever instead of the short one.

TENACITY OF LIFE.—A few evenings since there was a learned dissertation—subject: "Bed-bugs and their remarkable tenacity of life." One asserted of his own knowledge that they could be boiled and then come to life. Some had soaked them for hours in turpentine without any fatal consequences. Old Hanks, who had been listening as an outsider, here gave in his experience in corroboration of the facts. Says he: "Some years ago I took a bed-bug to an iron foundry, and drooped it into a ladle where the melted iron was, had it run into a skillet. Well, my old woman used that skillet pretty constant for the last six years, and here the other day it got broke all to smash, and what do you think, gentleman, that 'ere insect just walked out of his hole, where he had been layin' like a frog in a rock, and made tracks for his old roost up stairs. But," added he, by the way of of parenthesis, "he looked mighty pail"

ALTOONA, PA.

TUESDAY, APRIL 14, 1863.

A Proclamation.

Whereas the Senate of the United States, devoutly recognizing the Supreme Authority and just government of Almighty God, in all the affairs of men and of nations, has, by a resolution, requested the President to designate and set apart a day for National prayer and humiliation.

And whereas it is the duty of nations, as well as of men, to own their dependence upon the overruling power of God, to confess their sins and transgressions in humble sorrow, yet with assured hope that genuine repentance will lead to mercy and pardon, and to recognize the sublime truth announced in the Holy Scriptures and prove by all history, that those nations only are blessed whose God is the Lord.

And, insomuch as we know, that by His divine laws, nations, like individuals, are subject to punishments and chastisements in this world, may we not justly fear that the awful calamity of civil war, which now desolates the land, may be but a punishment inflicted upon us for our presumptuous sins; to the needful end of our national reformation as a whole People? We have been the recipients of the choicest bounties of Heaven. We have been preserved, these many years, in peace and prosperity. We have grown in numbers, wealth, and power, as no other nation has ever grown, But we have forgotten God. We have forgotten the gracious hand which preserved us in peace, and multiplied and enriched and strengthened us; and we have vainly imagined, in the deceitfulness of our hearts, that all these blessings were produced by some superior wisdom and virtue of our own. Intoxicated with unbroken success, we have been too selfsufficient to feel the necessity of redeeming and preserving grace, too proud to pray to the God that made us!

It behooves us, then to humble ourselves before the offended Power, to confess our national sins, and to pray for clemency and forgiveness.

Now, therefore, in compliance with the request, and fully concurring in the views of the Senate, I do, by this my proclamation, designate and set apart THURSDAY THE 30TH DAY OF APRIL, 1863, as a day of national humiliation, fasting and prayer. And I do hereby request all the People to abstain that day from their ordinary secular pursuits, and to unite, at their several places of public worship, and their respective homes, in keeping the day holy to the Lord, and devoted to the humble discharge of the religious duties proper to that solemn occasion.

All this being done in sincerity and truth, let us then rest humbly in the hope, authorized by the Divine teachings, that the united cry of the Nation will be heard on high, and answered with blessings, no less than the pardon of our national sins, and restoration of our now divided and suffering country to its former happy condition of unity and peace.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this 31st day of March, in the year of our Lord one [L. S.] thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and of the independence of the United States the eight-seventh.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

WM. H SEWARD, Secy of State.

Our Army Correspondence.

HILTON HEAD, SOUTH CAROLINA.
April 1st, 1863.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Amidst the clamor and confusion of preparing for the march, I find time to write a few lines for the Tribune. Well, I have mentioned about going away in several previous letters, and at length we have received orders to be ready for the march. Bound for Charleston! Yes, Charleston is all the cry! Hurrah for Charleston! We are going to do some fighting! Yes, the Keystone Zouaves are ready for any emergency! Never fear for them! They are sons of Pennsylvania's soil. Won't do though to boast; might offend somebody, or somebody else. Just wait until you hear from us.

We have had some very stormy weather for several days back. Bad weather for vessels, as the sea is very rough.

Company F is still getting along O. K. Speak of company F leads me to make a few remarks in reference to the state and condition of the company. By referring to the company books we find that our company only numbers fifty three privates, being thirty-two less than the number required in the formation of a full company. We want thirty-two recruits to fill out our company, and we want good men; we want good soldiers. Who, of the number who will read this letter, will volunteer. We do not want drafted men, but we want volunteers. For the information of such persons who may wish to serve their country, and who wish to connect themselves with a good regiment, I would remark: If you want to enlist in a good regiment, the Keystone Zouave regiment is the very one you should join, and company F, of said regiment, is the company you should belong to. Perhaps you may wish to know why I am so anxious to have you join our regiment? I have several reasons of which the following are a few:

1st. We have good officers, which is one great advantage.

2nd. We are well drilled, there not being a regiment in the 10th army corps that can beat us.

3d. We are well clothed, having the real French Zouave costume, and pronounced by all who have seen it, to be the most handsome, comfortable and serviceable uniform in the service.

4th. We are well fed. Of course we have not the many luxuries which we enjoyed at home, but we get very good and nourishing food, and plenty of it, so that we are never in want.

5th. We have swelt powder and exchanged lead with the rebels, and are not afraid of them.

6th. We have only about one year to serve yet, we having served almost two years. And lastly—we are Zouaves, not only in name but also in principle, and are pretty good looking b'hoys generally.

It is the duty of every citizen of the United States, capable of bearing arms, to enlist and help defend the land of the free and the home of the brave. Our forefathers fought and bled to secure for us the privileges we have enjoyed and which we still enjoy. They secured for us a country and a home at a great price, and shall we, their children, suffer this country to be taken from us? Will we permit ourselves to be bound hand and foot? No! Thousands have responded to our country's call, and are now enduring the hardships and privations of camp life. And there are thousands yet, who ought to be in the army, but who are still staying at home, saying, "there are enough without us." "when we are needed we will go." When you are needed! Why you are needed now! It is the duty of every man to fight for his country, and if you stay at home while others are marching against the foe, you act dishonestly! What right have you to stay at home more than others? Suppose every man was to remain at home, and say, "I need not go, there are enough without me." Where would we get men to defend our country? And yet every man has equal rights. One man has no more right to remain at home than another. And here is another thing to be considered. If you do not enlist, you will be drafted. Go you must, and had you not better go voluntarily than to be forced to go? Now I do hope you will meditate on what I have just said, and that you will be induced to enlist and join the Seventy-Sixth Regt. Pa. Vols. Of course we do not want the two young men, if I may call them so, (they do not deserve to be be called men) who, when they were solicited to enlist refused, and when they were enrolled and were afraid of being drafted, plead off, one on the plea of being deaf, and the other on that of not being naturalized. They are both Germans. I am glad to be able to say that they do not live in Altoona, although not a hundred miles from there. Hope they will have left the United States before we get home.

I must bring my scribbling to a close for the present. You may expect to be kept posted in regard to the movements of the expedition, if your correspondent does not get put under the sod.

Respectfully yours, J. L. KINSEL.

For the Tribune.

The following is the action of the 125th Regt., Second Brigade, First Division, Twelfth Army Corps, of the Army of the Potomac.

HEADQUARTERS 125TH REGT., PA. VOLS.,
CAMP NEAR ACQUIA CREEK, VA.,
April 2, 1863.

WHEREAS, Certain evil-minded persons in the army and at home have circulated base and scandalous reports concerning the Army of the Potomac, it is with pain and regret we have noticed the unfounded but too universal belief of the demoralization of this army—a report put in circulation by a set of Northern traitors to justify their own wicked designs, laying to our charge the imputation that we are in favor of peace on any terms. For the purpose of refuting so base a slander, alike insulting to our character as soldiers and citizens, we, the members of the one hundred and twenty-fifth Regiment, Second Brigade, First Division, Twelfth Army Corps, do therefore resolve:

I. That we denounce all such reports and allegations, and declare most emphatically that there are no men to be found in our ranks who would not blush at a dishonorable and inglorious peace, or would not rather sacrifice their all for the maintenance of our Constitution, the integrity of our country, and the crushing out of the rebellion.

II. That wearying and toilsome as the profession of a soldier may be, and as much as we long for the society of our sweet-hearts and families, and the endearments of home, we feel it our duty to carry on this war to the bitter end; and whatever the consequences to ourselves may be, the Army of the Potomac will be true to its flag, and does not desire peace until the last rebel has vanished from our soil.

III. We warn our friends at home to beware of the traitors in their own midst—"wolves in sheep's clothing"—and never to forget that the duty of a good citizen and true patriot is the maintenance of his rightful Government, and submission of all little, personal, political or social interests to the great common cause. The blood of thousands of our friends and comrades already sacrificed upon the altar of our country, cry aloud to you to follow cheerfully their glorious example, and to fill the thinned ranks of an army which will never submit to an inglorious peace.

IV. It is our sincere belief that the safety of the country lies in rallying around the Government, in a hearty co-operation of all the branches of civil life in a vigorous prosecution of this war, the stern resolution to fight until the last rebel in arms is subdued, and the "Stars and Stripes" are again floating over every inch of the territory belonging to the United States. We invite our friends at home and abroad to join with us in the motto: "High the flag of our country; death to traitors, South or North, East or West.

Respectfully yours, H. C. S.

☞ Are there traitors in the North? Read the following item from the Star and Banner, Gettysburg, Adams county:

A DASTARDLY ACT.—The copperheads of Liberty township committed a most dastardly act on the evening after the election, at the school house where the election poll is held. The teachers and pupils, we believe, had some time previous procured a beautiful Union flag, which was left displayed at the school house on the day of the election, in the evening after the polls were closed the flag was seized by these yellow-bellied lizards—these white-livered reptiles—these worse than hissing copperheads, and literally torn to shreds—trampled in the dust—and fragments of it sent to leading Union men in the district. We do not intend to waste words on these God-forsaken wretches—these scape-goats from perdition—these ugly, hideous traitors, more than to say they are known and their names are in the proper hands, and that if they do not stretch hemp for their treason they will find themselves lodged in one of "Lincoln's bastiles." Hang them by the neck until they are dead!

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF INTERNAL REVENUE,
December, 1862.

DECISION IN RELATION TO PUBLISHERS.—Publishers of printed books, magazines, pamphlets, newspapers, reviews, and all other similar printed publications, are liable to assessment as dealers.

If the sales of a publisher are to those who buy to sell again, or if this part of his business is considerable, so that he procures stock and arranges his business with reference to such sales, he should be classed as a wholesale dealer, even though a portion of his sales is to those who buy for their own use.

A publisher of a newspaper requires a dealer's license to sell his papers upon the premises; but no license is required by a publisher who disposes of his papers exclusively through a commission house. Subscriptions received at the office, and the delivery of the papers by mail or otherwise, is regarded as a sale upon the premises.

THE EFFECTS OF WHISKY.—The mangled remains of a man were found on the New York and Erie Railroad, at Susquehanna Depot, on Saturday last. He had been in that village all day, indulging in liquor, and while intoxicated attempted to cross the track, when he was knocked down and seven cars passed over his body, severing one leg instantly, horribly mangling the other, and otherwise so badly injuring the poor wretch that he died in a few hours.

LEGAL TENDER.—The question which has recently been raised as to the legal-tender clause of the currency act is now settled. The Supreme Court of the Nothern district of New York, all four judges concurring, has affirmed the constitutionality of the act of Congress making the national currency a legal-tender for all debts, both those contracted before and after the passage of the law.

The Best Way to Put Money Out at Interest.

The following information we insert in our columns for the benefit of our readers:

[From the Philadelphia Ledger, March 27.]

One of the most surprising things in the recent conversion of greenback notes into the popular Five-Twenty six per cent. Government loan at par, is the universality of the call. We happened in, yesterday, at the office of Jay Cooke, who is the agent for the sale of these loans, and the conversion of the greenbacks, and found his table literally covered with orders and accompanying drafts for almost all amounts, from five thousand to a hundred thousand dollars each, and from all parts of the Union. The little State of Delaware and New Jersey are free takers, as are also Pennsylvania, New York and the New England States. But the West is most especially an active taker, as well through her banks as by individuals. The amount of orders lying before us, all received during the day, amounted to over fifteen hundred thousand dollars. With this spontaneous proffer of money, Secretary Chase must feel himself entirely at ease, and will take care to put himself beyond those money sharpers, whose chief study is how to profit themselves most from the troubles of the country, and the necessities of the treasury. There are millions of dollars lying idle all over the country, and while the uncertainty existed as to what Congress would do, and the bullion brokers were successful in running up gold to the discredit of the Government issue, this capital was clutched close. But as the policy and measures of the Secretary of the Treasury are gradually developed, confidence in the Government and in the future is strengthened, and holders are now anxious to make their long unemployed means productive—hence the ready and liberal investment in the Five-Twenty loans at par. Almost every town and village throughout the country has individual holders of money, to larger amounts probably than ever before at one time, for which satisfactory takers cannot be found. Many of those are now investers in these loans, and the number of such is likely to increase, until the demand shall put all the Government loans on a par with, at least, the loans of the various incorporated companies. The country banks are also free takers for themselves and their customers. On the 1st of July this Five-Twenty Year loan will, under the law, be withdrawn.

JAY COOKE, Esq.,
United States Loan Agent.
114 SOUTH THIRD STREET, PHILADELPHIA.

Dear Sir:

I see by our papers that you are selling for the Government a new Loan called "Five-Twenties." I expect to have shortly a few thousand dollars to spare, and as I have made up my mind that the Government Loans are safe and good, and that it is my duty and interest, at this time, to put my money into them in preference over any other loans or stocks, I write to get information as follows:

1st. Why are they called "Five-Twenties?"

2nd. Do you take country money, or only Legal Tender Notes, or will a check on Philadelphia, or New York, answer for Subscriptions?

3d. Do you sell the Bonds at Par?

4th. As I cannot come to Philadelphia, how am I to get the Bonds?

5th What interest do they pay, and how and when and where is it paid, and is it paid in Gold or Legal Tenders?

6th. How does Secretary Chase get enough Gold to pay this Interest?

7th. Will the face of the Bonds be paid in Gold when due?

8th. Can I have the Bonds payable to Bearer with Coupons, or registered and payable to my order?

9th. What size are the Bonds?

10th. Will I have to pay the same tax on them as I now pay on my Railroad, or other Bonds?

11th. What is the present debt of the Government, and what amount is it likely to reach if the Rebellion should last a year or two longer?

12th. Will Secretary Chase get enough from Custom House duties and Internal Revenue, Income Taxes, &c., &c., to make it certain that he can pay the Interest punctually?

I have no doubt that a good many of my neighbors would like to take these Bonds, and if you will answer my questions I will show the letter to them.

Very Respectfully,
S—— M—— F——.

Office of Jay Cooke, Subscription Agent,
at Office of Jay Cooke & Co., Bankers,
114 S. Third St
PHILADELPHIA, March 23, 1863.

Dear Sir:

Your letter of the 20th inst. is received, and I will cheerfully give you the information desired by answering your questions in due order.

1st. These Bonds are called "Five-Twenties" because, while they are twenty year Bonds, they may be redeemed by the Government in GOLD at any time after five years. Many people suppose that the Interest is only 5.20 per cent. This is a mistake; they pay Six per cent. Interest.

2nd. Legal Tender notes or checks upon Philadelphia or New York that will bring Legal Tenders, are what the Secretary allows me to receive. No doubt your nearest Bank will give you a check or Legal Tenders for your country funds.

3d. The Bonds are sold at PAR, the Interest to commence the day you pay the money.

4th. I have made arrangements with your nearest Bank or Banker, who will generally have the Bonds on hand. If not, you can send the money to me by Express, and I will send back the Bonds free of cost.

5th. The Bonds pay SIX per cent. Interest in GOLD, three per cent. every six months, on the first day of May and November at the Mint in Philadelphia, or at any Sub-Treasury in New York or elsewere. If you have Coupon Bonds, all you have to do is to cut the proper Coupon off each six months, and collect it yourself or give it to the Bank for collection. If you have Registered Bonds, you can give your Bank a power of attorney to collect the interest for you.

6th. The duties on imports of all articles from abroad must be paid in GOLD, and this is the way Secretary Chase gets his gold. It is now being paid into the Treasury at the rate of two Hundred Thousand Dollars each day, which is twice as much as he needs to pay the Interest in Gold.

7th. Congress has provided that the Bonds shall be PAID IN GOLD when due.

8th. You can have either Coupon Bonds payable to the Bearer, or Registered Bonds payable to your order.

9th. The former are in 50's, 100's, 500's and 1000's,—the latter in same amounts, also $5000's and $10,000.

10th. No! You will not have to pay any taxes on these Bonds if your income from them does not exceed $600; and on all above $600 you will only have to pay one-half as much Income Tax as if your money was invested in Mortgages or other Securities. I consider the Government Bonds as first of all—all other Bonds are taxed one-quarter per cent. to pay the Interest on the Government Bonds, and the Supreme Court of the United States has just decided that no State, or City, or County can tax Government Bonds.

11th. The present bonded debt of the United States is less than THREE HUNDRED MILLIONS, including the seven and three-tenths Treasury Notes: but the Government owns enough more in the shape of Legal Tenders, Deposits in the Sub-Treasuries, Certificates of Indebtedness, &c., to increase the debt to about eight or nine hundred millions. Secretary Chase has calculated that the debt may reach one thousand, seven hundred millions, if the Rebellion lasts eighteen months longer. It is, however, believed now that it will not last six months longer; but even if it does, our National Debt will be small compared with that of Great Britian or France, whilst our resources are vastly greater.

12th. I have no doubt that the revenue will not only be ample to pay the ordinary expenses of the Government and all Interest on the debt, but leave at least one hundred millions annually toward paying off the debt, and that the Government will be able to get out of debt again as it has twice before—in a few years after the close of the war.

I hope that all who have idle money will at once purchase those Five-Twenty Year Bonds. The right to demand them for Legal Tenders will end on the first day of July, 1863, as per the following authorized notice:

SPECIAL NOTICE.

On and after JULY 1st, 1863, the privilege of converting the present issue of LEGAL TENDER NOTES INTO THE NATIONAL SIX PER CENT. LOAN (commonly called Five-Twenties) will cease.

All who wish to invest in the Five-Twenty Loan must, therefore, apply before the first of JULY next.

Those who neglect these SIX per cent. Bonds, the Interest and Principal of which they will get in GOLD, may have occasion to regret it. I am, very truly your Friend,

The Banks and Bankers of your and adjoining Counties will keep a supply of these Bonds on hand, if you prefer to go there and get them.

84th and 110th.

There is no mistaking the expressions which come to us from the camps of our soldiers. They are too loud to be drowned by the cry that they are the opinions of the officers and not the rank We have the assurance of those upon whom we can rely that these proceedings are unanimously endorsed by the entire regiments named. The 84th and 110th regiments contain many men from this county. They address their friends in strong language. Read the following:—

WHEREAS, The volunteer soldier left home to serve his country in the armies of the republic, to maintain that great and good Government, bequeathed to us by our revolutionary fathers, encouraged and cheered on by the friends he left behind: And whereas, Before the final battle is fought or victory won, there are some who cry "peace" when there is no peace, and are ready to give up in despair, thereby encouraging our enemies and increasing our calamities; therefore

Resolved, That the officers and soldiers of this brigade send to their friends and fellow citizens at home the following address, as expressive of their feelings and sentiments on the war:

Friends and Fellow Citizens:—We are here, as you all know, at the bidding of our beloved country; we came hither to assist by force of arms to maintain that Government, of which every man in it has an equal share. It is your Government, our Government, the Government of each of us, and the Government of all. But there is this difference: You have been contented to remain at home, in the enjoyment of your accustomed avocations; we left homes and friends as dear to us as yours are to you. You are content to carry on this war by force of your opinions; we have prepared to take up arms and meet the foe on the battle-field. You discuss the proper order of battle after a comfortable dinner; we fight battles without dinners. You sleep comfortably in your beds; the soldier sleeps on the cold, wet ground. You groan and grumble, but don't fight; we fight without grumbling, and submit to hardships and meet death without a groan.

You are free to express your opinions about the war in which you take no active part; allow us who are in the field to express ours. When we left home you all bid us God speed; the men gathered round and cheered us, our mothers, our sisters, our wives and daughters, smiled amid their tears and waved us on; even the little boys and girls waved their tiny flags, and expressing a noble patriotic sense, sent up many "hurrahs" for the Union; guns were fired; the old banner with its stars and stripes floated from window and dome; every one seemed to say, go on, my brave countrymen; put down this wicked rebellion; reestablish the old banner on every hill top, and if need be we will come to the rescue. We had hoped that the war would be short—that the misguided people of the rebellious States would soon lay down their arms and return to their duty and to their allegiance.

But not so. They have only become more hostile as their wicked cause has become more desperate.

Thus far war has been carried on with a gentle hand on our part. It was impossible to comprehend at first the extent and magnitude of this rebellion. The Government has treated it like a kind and indulgent parent would treat a refractory child; the parent has been content to exhibit the rod and to mingle kind words with gentle reproof; but this has only made the child more hateful, wicked and defiant. The public sentiment of the country demanded this moderation, under the impression that the Southern people would ere long return to their senses. The recent elections in several of the loyal States indicated this sentiment by large majorities. But the leaders of the rebellion, instead of appreciating this unparalleled generosity, tell us, "We spit upon your peace offerings, we despise you, we defy you; we ask no peace short of our subjugation or a Southern Confederacy."

They tell us again, "We are your masters, and there shall be no peace except such as we shall dictate at the capitol at Washington with our armies thundering at your gates." They tell us, as they did at the outset, "You are knaves and cowards, and five of you are not equal to one of us in battle;" and in their incomprehensible arrogance and self-conceit they still expect to beat the reveille and have roolcall at the base of Bunker Hill monument! Under these circumstances we are more than ever for the war. We are now, henceforth and forever in favor of carrying on the war in dead earnest.

We are opposed to all at home who oppose the war and cry "peace" when there is no peace, and can be no peace except at the expense of our nationality, our honor and our manhood.

We admonish all such as counsel peace and offer their sympathies to our enemies, that they are making a damning record for themselves and their descendants for all time to come, and we furthermore suggest most respectfully, to all who feel competent to criticise the war, and tell us how battles should be fought and victories won, to shoulder the musket and come down to the front and give practical evidence of their ability in the science of arms and the duties of the soldier.

Finally, we can see no reason for doubting or halting in our onward career. If the war, on our part, was right in its inception, it is right still.—Nor have we any reason to be discouraged. It is true we have lost some battles and that some grand mistakes have been made, but no cause, however just, was ever maintained without disaster. But a candid retrospect of the war shows, on the whole, every reason for encouragement. In Kentucky the rebel lines one extended as far North as Bowling Green. In Missouri, Price carried his rebel banner as far North as Lexington and menaced St. Louis. In Tennessee, Pillow and Floyd held Fort Donelson and the rebel army domineered over all the country, from Cumberland Gap to the Mississippi river. But 1862 saw the enemy driven out of Missouri and Kentucky, Columbus evacuated, Island No. 10 captured, the enemy whipped at Fort Henry, fought and conquered at Fort Donelson, beaten at Shiloh, driven from his strong hold at Corinth and finally swept out of Tennessee, North Alabama and Mississippi. Since then our arms have carried our victorious banner down the father of waters, sweeping Arkansas by the way, shaking hands with Banks, perches near Port Hudson, and now that matchless river is ours and rebel Louisiana lies at our feet.

The enemy was caught and whipped in Maryland, and if Richmond still remains to Old Virginia, it stands up like a blasted monument, amid a wilderness of desolation.

In fact the enemy has been driven on all sides and through the centre, and the rebellion can read its destiny by the light of glistening bayonets on the land and hear its doom in the roar of cannon from the navy that hangs like an electric cloud along fifteen hundred miles of the southern coast.

We say without hesitation, that we stand pledged to this contest. The issue is made up. The hand of destiny is upon us. God alone holds in his hand the issues of life or death. We are for the war, and in favor of any measure that will hurt the rebels. Perish trade, perish commerce, perish slavery, perish everything and everybody that stands in the way of that cause for which we have periled our lives and are ready to die, if such be the will of Heaven.

Some of our fellow citizens at home insist that this war must be carried on "according to the Constitution." How do the rebels carry on this war? Did they batter down the walls of Fort Sumter according to the Constitution? Do they raise and equip large armies to destroy us under the provisions of the Constitution? Do their piratical ships go forth on the high seas to destroy our commerce under the aegis of the Constitution? Is it constitutional for the rebels to destroy the Constitution and to destroy the country, and to wage a destructive war against us on sea and land? Must we fight them as if they were especial and particular friends? No! This conceited, wicked, rebel child has ignored the Constitution of the United States and has made one for himself—he has made war upon his household—he has put his sacrilegious hand at the throat of his mother, and he must be treated as an outlaw, he must be put down like any other enemy—he has no rights to be protected under the Constitution he stands armed to destroy. The day for kind words, for gentle admonition, is passed—there is no time left for temporizing and delay. Let the heavy hand of war be laid heavily on the rebel States—let the cry be "Lay on Macduff, and let him be damned who cries enough!" until this rebellion is fought to a triumphant result.

To this end we pledge all we have and all we are. By all the sacrifices already made by us, by all the hardships already endured by our countrymen, by all the bones of our fellow soldiers slain, by the memories of our revolutionary fathers—as long as "grass grows and water runs," as sure as there is a God above, we will stand for the right until this rebellion is put down.

Opinions of the 76th Regiment P. V.

The following proceedings of the 76th Regt P. V., to which Captains Hicks' and Findley's (formerly Capt. Wayne's) companies, from this county, are attached, have been sent us for publication. In a letter from Captain Findley to his father, Dr. W. R. Findley, he says that after the preamble and resolutions had been endorsed and signed by every commissioned officer in the regiment, the regiment was drawn up in line and the proceedings and resolutions were read to and adopted by each company unanimously, there not being a dissenting voice:

Proceedings of a Meeting of the Officers of the 76th Regt P. V., called for the purpose of expressing disapprobation of the course of certain parties in the North, who are endeavoring to bring about a dishonorable peace:

HEAD QRS. 76TH P. V., KEYSTONE ZOUAVES,
HILTON HEAD, S. C., March 27, 1863.

The officers met pursuant to call. The meeting was called to order and its object stated by Col. D. C. Strawbridge. On motion of Captain Hicks, Col. D. C. Strawbridge was elected Chairman, and on motion of Lieut. Wm. Miller, Captain W. S. Diller was elected Secretary. It was then proposed to appoint a committee of five officers for the purpose of drafting resolutions expressing the sentiments of the meeting. This proposition was seconded in a motion by Lieutenant Magee, and, on being put to vote, was approved. The Chairman appointed Capt. Jno W. Hicks, Jos. R. Findley and Wm. S. Diller, and Lieuts. Frank J. Magee and Wm. Miller, members of the committee, they being no other business before the meeting, it was moved to meet on Monday evening, March 30th.

PREAMBLE AND RESOLUTIONS.

WHEREAS, A party is being organized in the North with the avowed object of making overtures of peace to those in arms against the general Government; and as the leaders of that party are sowing broadcast through the land seeds of discontent and treason; and

WHEREAS, Among other abominable heresies that they are propagating they are striving to convince the public mind that the army now in the field, contending for the Constitution, the Union of States, and the honor of the country has become demoralized, and indifferent as to the great result, to accomplish which we entered the service of our country. Therefore be it

Resolved, That each American citizen, being a member of the great body politic, is loyal to the best interests of that body, our common country, only so long as he acts in obedience to the governing will or head of that body, the general government. That, as the powers that be have been created by the popular vote, in a lawful and constitutional election, any attempt to oppose the power thus created cannot but tend to produce indecisive results, if not inglorious defeats, in the most important projects, and is subversive of the first principles of a Democratic government, viz: that the majority must rule.

Resolved, That we, as volunteers in the defence of the constitution and the laws, and champions in the contest of freedom and universal liberty, against treason and its abettors, claim the privilege of giving our voice in condemnation of those cravens and cowards and worse than traitors, who are seizing every opportunity to embarrass the movements of our government, by uttering treasonable sentiments, and in other ways, thus giving indirect aid and comfort to those in rebellion against our government.

Resolved, That we cannot refrain from giving expression to the contempt and scorn we feel for the imbeciles, who, least of all, have cause for complaint at a vigorous prosecution of the war, as they have endured none of its hardships, and experienced the fewest losses, and yet are sueing for peace with traitors, even while their cannons are pointed towards our homes and their bayonets are at our breasts; and further, if there are grades of treason, we claim that the most despicable traitors are those, who enjoying every benefit guaranteed to her citizens, by our liberal government, are stabbing her in the dark, being devoid of all manly courage, for which virtue we must at least respect those who meet us on the battle-field face to face.

Resolved, That we still hold dear those principles that actuated us when we went forth to battle for the right; those motives that have sustained us on the fatiguing march, or in the monotony of camp life, whether under the burning sun or in the beating rain; that we are still actuated by those motives that have sustained us in the field of battle, or in the crowded hospital; that we still cherish those principles, the thought of which has made us proud in victory and patient in defeat; that as we have endured the trials and privations of a soldier's career for those tenets, to see them triumphant, we will endure unto the bitter end or share a soldier's grave with those of our companions who have already fallen.

Resolved, That we cordially endorse the action of Congress, in regard to the means and manner of conducting the war in the future, and express a fervent hope that every man not already in the field will use his utmost endevors to have the law enforced.

Resolved, That we think any peace obtained while the rebels are yet in arms would be unsubstantial, humiliating and a dishonor to the country, and that a peace to be permanent and reflect honor upon us and the government must be a "conquered peace."

Resolved, That the thanks of the people and soldiers of our State are due to his Excellency, A. G. Curtin, for the able and skillful manner he has conducted the affairs of our State, in arming, equipping and sending forth thousands to do or die for the right, and that his course meets with our most hearty approval, proving him to be a Patriot and a Statesman, in whom we have the utmost confidence.

CORRECTION.—We are glad to learn that we were in error, last week, in stating that Erastus Kinsel, who died of small-pox at Blair Furnace, was neglected by his neighbors, and his body permitted to remain unburied longer than it should. On the contrary, proper care was taken of him during his sickness, and his body was decently interred, by James Coleman and others, on the day after he died. We were not on the spot to gather the information we gave last week, but relied upon the reports we received. We say again, we are glad that our information was incorrect, and we make this correction with pleasure, hoping that all who copied our article will do the same.

RESIGNED.—Capt. James Bell, of Tyrone, has resigned his command in the 6th Pa. Cavalry, now with Gen. Rosecrans, on account of ill health. We were pleased to receive a visit from him a few evenings since. We hope that home comforts may prove beneficial and restore him to health again.

In Harrisburg, Aug. 14th, 1862, by Rev. Dr. W. C. Pierlerde of Lowell, Mass., Mr. THOS. L. CALDWELL, of Altoona, Pa., to Miss ALICE CORDAY, of Yarmouthport, Mass.

Well, Thomas "shut our eye up," pretty cleverly that time. Married eight months and never told the printer before—kept us eight months out of our c——gh, we came very near telling something that time—no difference, he kept us waiting a long time for the handsome articles and "Please accept" which accompanied the above notice. But they were so nice that it required some time to get them up. Having fully made amends for the delay, we have no "cause of action," as the lawyers say, consequently we drop the complaint and turn our attention to hearty wishes for the future of our young friend and his "down East" bride. May fickle fortune favor them with a flowery future, and faithful friends frequent their fireside; may the hand of time be laid lightly upon them, and with the final flow of the tide of time to them on earth allotted, may they be borne by favoring gales, as permanent guests to that haven of rest, the haven of the blest, beyond the dark crest of life's uneven sea, there to receive their reward.

CASE OF DANIEL A. BOYD.

PITTSBURGH, December 31, 1861.

DR. G. H. KEYSER:—I take pleasure in making this voluntary statement in favor of a medicine prepared by you called "LINDSEY'S BLOOD SEARCHER." I had suffered for five years with Scrofula which broke out on my head and forehead so as to disfigure me very much, and took off the hair when the disease made its appearance; it also broke out on my arm above and below the elbow, and eat into the skin and flesh so as to expose a fearful sore. The disease on my head went so far that several small pieces of bone came out. I was very weak and low spirited, and had given up all hope of ever getting well, as I had tried several skillful physicians and they did me no good. In September last, 1861, I was induced to try "LINDSEY'S IMPROVED BLOOD SEARCHER." I must confess I had no faith in patent medicines, but after I had used three bottles of Blood Searcher, the ulcers on my head and arm began to heal. I have now taken eight or ten bottles, and my head and arm are entirely well except the scars remaining from the sores. I will also state that I had the rheumatism very bad in my arms and legs. The Blood Searcher also cured the rheumatism. I am now a well man, over forty years of age, and I feel as supple and young as I did when I was twenty, and have increased in weight twenty pounds. I would also state that the disease in my forehead was so bad that when I stooped and lifted anything heavy, the blood run out of the sore. Dr. Keyser had a photograph taken of me by Mr. Cargo, the artist, after I began to get well. It does not show my appearance as bad as it was before I commenced taking the medicine. You can see the photograph, one of which is now in my possession, and also at Dr. Keyser's 140 Wood street. I would also state that I took the Blood Searcher which was made before Dr. Keyser commenced making it. Although it helped me some, I did not recover fast until I got the kind made by Dr. Keyser himself. One bottle of his did me more good than two of the old. I believe it is a great deal stronger and better. I have recommended the Blood Searcher to a great many of my friends for various diseases, and I believe it has helped the whole of them. You may publish this if you wish, and I am anxious that all who are afflicted as I was may be cured. I live in this city, No. 4 Pine street, and am employed at Collville & Anderson's Union Marble Works, 54 Wayne street.
DANIEL A. BOYD.

A BLIND MAN CURED.

I live in Sligo, at Clinton Mill and have been nearly blind in both eyes for nearly four years. I called on Dr. Keyser about three months ago and asked him to give me directions to the Institution for the Blind in Philadelphia (He told me that I need not go to Philadelphia to get well as he had medicine that would cure me, as he said my disease was in the blood. I was treated for it two or three times in the hospital in this city, and was relieved, but my disease always returned after a month or two after I came out of the hospital. I found my disease was returning and I called, by the advice of a good friend of mine, on Dr. Keyser, who has restored my sight, and my eyes are nearly as well as ever. The Doctor gave me 'Lindsey's Blood Searcher" and a wash.

A BAD SORE LEG CURED.

PITTSBURGH, September 18, 1861.—I hereby certify that I have had a sore leg for over a year. It was covered with ulcers and sores so that I could not work for nearly a year. My leg swelled so that I was unable to do anything for a long time, for at least six months. I tried several of the best doctors in the city, but without any benefit; finally I called on Dr. Keyser, at No. 140 Wood street, who only attended me about two weeks, and gave me but two bottles of medicine, and I am now entirely well and have continued so for six months. I am employed at the Eagle Engine House on Fourth street, where any one can see me.
THOMAS FARRELL.

CANCER CURED.

A LETTER FROM ENGLAND.—Mr. John Pope, of Blaenavon, near Montypool, Monmouthshire, England, writes as follows:

SIR:—An old woman in this place has wished me to write you respecting LINDSEY'S BLOOD SEARCHER, from which she found great benefit, and wishes to have a little more. She has been suffering from a disease of a cancerous nature for the last six or seven years. Her daughter who is living in America, obtained it for her, and sent her eighteen bottles. She is now quite out of it, and I have written to her daughter twice and have received no answer; of course she is anxious to get more, to get completely cured. I told her I would write to you for the agency in this country, and she felt very much pleased to hear me say so. I now beg to ask you on what terms you will supply me; you will please bear in mind the carriage, and supply me as cheap as possible. The carriage on the one dozen bottles was 21 Ss 6d. The medicine was a present from her daughter. I would like to have the Blood Searcher in a jar or small cask, if you can send it in that way, or in pint or quart bottles. I will send a bill through bank or registered letter, which ever will be most convenient to you, if you will send me carrier's receipt of the parcel as security. I would send you a stamp to answer this, but as it is uncertain of this reaching you, on account of the country being in six and sevens, a term which is commonly used, you will be kind enough to charge me with the postage.
Yours, respectfully,
[Signed] JOHN POPE.

[We have seen the letter which is published in to-day's Dispatch, from John Pope, and believe it to be genuine.—Editors Dispatch Pittsburgh.

The Early Physical Degeneracy of AMERICAN PEOPLE.

JUST PUBLISHED BY DR. A. STONE

Physician to the Troy Lung and Hygienic Institute.

A Treatise on the Causes of Early Physical decline of American People: the cause of Nervous Debility, Consumption and Marasmus.

This work is one of high moral tone, written in chaste, yet thrilling language, and appeals directly to the moral consciousness of ALL PARENTS and Guardians especially, detailing scientific and reliable aids and treatment for cure.

A Word of Solemn Conscientious Advice to those who will reflect.

A class of maladies prevail to a fearful extent in the community, dooming at least 100,000 youth of both sexes annually to an early grave. These diseases are very imperfectly understood. Their external manifestation, or symptoms are Nervous Debility, Relaxation and Exhaustion, Marasmus or wasting (and consumption of the tissues of the whole body; shortness of breathing or hurried breathing on ascending a hill or flight of stairs; great palpitation of the Heart; Asthma, Bronchitis and sore Throat; shaking of the Hands and limbs; aversion to society and to business or study; dimness of eye sight, loss of Memory, dizziness of the Head, Neuralgia, Pain in various parts of the body; Pains in the back or limbs, Lumbago, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, irregularity of the bowels, deranged secretions of the Kidneys and other glands of the body, as Leucorrhœa or Fleur Albus, &c. Likewise Epilepsy, Hysteria and Nervous Spasms.

Now in ninety-nine cases out of every one hundred, all of the above named disorders, and a host of others not named, as Consumption of the Lungs and that most insidious and wily form of consumption of the Spinal Nerves, known as Tabes Dorsalis, and Tabes mesenterica, have their seat and origin in diseases of the Pelvic Viscera. Hence the want of success on the part of old school practice in treating symptoms only.

Dr. Andrew Stone, Physician to the Troy Lung and Hygienic Institution, is now engaged in treating this class of modern maladies with the most astonishing success. The treatment adopted by this Institution is new; it is based upon scientific principles, with new discovered remedies; without minerals or poisons. The facilities of cure are such that patients can be cured at their homes, in any part of the country, from accurate descriptions of their case, by letter; and have the medicines sent by Mail or express. Printed interrogatories will be forwarded on application.

☞ Consumption, Catarrh and diseases of the throat cured as well at the Home of the Patients as at the Institution, by sending the Cold Medicated INHALING BALSAMIC VAPORS, with Inhaler and ample directions for their use, and direct correspondence.

☞ Patients applying for interrogatives or advice, must enclose return stamps, to meet attention.

☞ The attending Physician will be found at the Institution for consultation, from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., each day. Sunday in the forenoon.
